Golf course management served with Breach of Condition Notice over unapproved depositing of infill material

WEST Lancs Council has served a Breach of Condition notice on the management at Beacon Park Golf Course, Serco, after work which involved material being deposited, was found to be "significantly different" from that shown on the approved plans.

Report by Henry James

The notice relates particularly to the profiling of the former driving range area at the course in Up Holland.

It has been found that the maximum height allowed under the original planning consent has been exceeded, with the quantity of infill which should have been added over the whole site, being concentrated in one area.

The alleged breach is the latest incident in a five-year saga at the course since Serco, the management agent for West Lancashire Community Leisure Ltd., took on supervision of the facility.

Residents complained that there was "little scrutiny or oversight of the type or quantity of the materials being dumped" at the course, nor the money being made by sub-contractors.

West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has raised these issues with both the borough council and Serco chiefs on several occasions previously and most recently met with the local authority's deputy directors of leisure and housing and inclusion.

She said: "What has been going on with Beacon Park Golf Course over many years has been a disgrace and it is timely that action is at last being taken to rectify the situation, but this doesn't end the matter.

"I will continue to pursue this as there should be proper accountability by those who made these poor decisions which I believe led to a loss of revenue to WLBC and its council taxpayers, from both the course and the proceeds from the amount of rubble and waste materials which have been dumped.

"Serco will now have six months to comply with the breach of condition notice and remove material from the area around the driving range and the foot golf area. I have asked to meet with Serco directors to get to the bottom of what has gone on."

A spokesman for West Lancs Council responded: "The council can confirm that it has issued a Breach of Condition notice in relation to the former driving range area due to the works on site being significantly different from that shown on the plans approved by the council.

"Material has been deposited in three locations on the golf course, the former driving range, alongside the first fairway and the new nine-hole golf course.

Beacon Park Golf Course

"While the total amount of material deposited on the golf course is within the limits allowed under the planning consent, larger amounts of material have been deposited than shown on the approved plans in the areas in question.

"It is only in the case of the former driving range, however, that the non-compliance with the approved plan is deemed so significant as to warrant the council taking action.

"During the deposit of material, the council contacted the Environment Agency to ensure that proper monitoring of the type of material being brought on to the site was in place.

"The council has been in discussions with the site operator, Serco, and they have undertaken to take the actions required to overcome the council's concerns and to remedy the breach of planning control. The deputy directors of leisure and wellbeing and development and regeneration met recently with the MP to inform her of the latest position and the action being taken.

"The council fully expects a positive

LOCAL residents are being invited to help keep Tawd Valley Park looking its best.

West Lancs Council is asking the local community to join in a series of conservation and maintenance improvement sessions in the park being led by the authority's Parks and Countryside Ranger Service.

The sessions, running from 10am to 3pm, will start on Friday, June 8 and will continue for the same duration each subsequent Friday.

Volunteers can just turn up on the day as the sessions are intended to be of an informal nature.

Participants wishing to stay for the duration of the session are recommended to take a packed lunch.

No previous experience is necessary as all instruction will be given on the days. All necessary equipment will be provided. Children under 18 must be accompanied by an adult.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, the council's cabinet member for leisure, said: "The sessions are informal but those taking part will be doing important work to conserve the green oasis that is Tawd Valley Park, so come along and help keep the park looking its best."

Choir's charity concert bow

The new group will be performing 'An 'Evening of Light Popular Music' featuring a variety of popular and folk songs with the chance for the audience to have a sing-a-long.

There will be solo performances by members of the choir and also by some of Joanne's students.

Proceeds from the concert will go towards the upkeep of St Mark's Church and tickets, priced £5, can be ordered from Joanne on 07791 461739 or 01704 896824; or you can pay on the door.

Funding boost for programme to support people at risk of suicide

LOCAL communities across Lancashire and South Cumbria could benefit from a major national investment aimed at supporting people at risk of suicide.

The Department for Health and Social Care, Public Health England (PHE), and NHS England have announced the start of a three-year programme worth £25 million that will reach the whole country by 2021.

It forms part of the government's commitment to reduce suicides in England by 10 per cent by 2021 and will support the zero suicide ambition for mental health inpatients announced by Secretary of State, Jeremy Hunt in January.

Currently, one person dies by suicide every 90 minutes in the UK, and approximately two thirds of them are not in contact with mental health services.

Lancashire and South Cumbria is one of eight regions set to receive £1.2m in funding. The money will be used in the next two years to deliver locally targeted prevention campaigns for men; psychological support for people with financial difficulties; better care after discharge; and improved self-harm services for all ages.

Paul Hopley, programme director for Mental Health at Healthier Lancashire and South Cumbria

It is hoped the funding will improve suicide prevention strategies by signposting and raising awareness, through to improving quality for safer services and will help drive better surveillance and collection of data on suicide, attempted suicide and self-harm.

Paul Hopley, programme director for Mental Health at Healthier Lancashire and South Cumbria, said: "Raising awareness of suicide and ensuring those in need receive the right support, at the right time, is a key priority for us.

Devastating

"As a local commissioner, I see the devastating impact that suicide can have on a family and community. Locally, we want to help raise awareness of the support that is available to those at most risk and help show there is another way."

If you are worried that you, or someone you know is at risk of suicide, there is 24/7 help available. Let family or friends know; or speak to your GP or NHS 111, who can direct you to a local service for advice.

Alternatively ring Samaritans on 116 123; Campaign Against Living Miserably (for men) on 0800 58 58 58 (5pm to midnight every day); or Childline (for children and young people under 19), on 0800 11 11.

resolution of the matter. If however, the Breach of Condition notice is not fully complied with, then the council would need to decide on what action to take in response.

"The council's decision in this regard will ultimately depend on what progress had been made by Serco to resolve the breach of planning control at that point in time and their proposals and timescale for addressing any outstanding matters."

Mark Snaylam, contract manager for West Lancashire Community Leisure Ltd., said: "We acknowledge receipt of the 'Breach of Condition Notice' and we are currently working with the Local Authority Planning Team to comply with the conditions of the notice.

"We have met with MP Rosie Cooper previously and we reassure her of our intentions to comply fully with the requirements of the council."

Workmates' calendar tribute to Angela

Report by Henry James

A CALENDAR put together by workers at a Skelmersdale company in memory of a former colleague has raised £575 for CLIC Sargent, the UK's leading cancer charity for children, young people and their families.

Angela Priest had been a driving force behind the charity calendars produced by staff at Redwood Technical Textiles & Specialist Manufacturer in Pimbo.

The workmates launched their first calendar in 2016 in aid of prostate cancer as they knew many people who had been affected by the condition.

Angela was involved in many aspects of the production of the calendar, including the creation of costumes, and the finished articles were sold raising a grand total of £1,250.

Company owner, Brian Atherton, generously paid for the printing of the calendars.

Inspired by their success, the workers produced another calendar the following year, raising £600 for Marie Curie and £200 for Second Hope, which helps people with breast cancer.

Sadly, Angela passed away suddenly last year as the third calendar was being put together.

But her colleagues decided to carry on her work and completed the calendar with Angela remembered in February of the new edition.

Margaret Grierson, from Redwood, said: "I still find it hard to believe that Angela has gone. It was such a shock when she died. She passed when we were halfway through putting the calendar together.

"She was such a passionate, vibrant lady who did a lot for charity.

"We decided to complete the calendar though as we believe that is what Angela would have wanted.

"She had so many ideas for the calendar. She wanted a picture taken on the Hope Island roundabout. We didn't get there, but we took another five photographs to complete it.

"There are many different themes this time and we celebrate Easter and Halloween."

Between 10 and 15 staff were involved in this year's calendar which was sold throughout Skelmersdale.

The company again paid for the printing of the calendar and many of the shots were taken on site.

Some of the staff from Redwood Technical Textiles and the proceeds from the sale of their charity calendar.

The zebra crossing on Ormskirk Road, Up Holland

Resident's call to replace 'dangerous' zebra crossing with traffic lights

RESIDENTS in Up Holland are calling for the zebra crossing in Ormskirk Road by the doctor's surgery to be removed and replaced by traffic lights as they believe the site is now a danger to pedestrians.

One resident, who asked not to be named, told the Champion that there had been a number of incidents where cars had nearly hit pedestrians as they used the facility.

He said : "A number of people have literally had to run for their lives at this location and I have read on social media that someone was actually hit by a car.

"On one occasion my daughter was with my young grandson and they were using the crossing when a car came travelling along the road at excessive speed and nearly took them out.

"Another time a mum and her children were walking across the crossing and a bus stopped to let them pass but then three cars overtook the bus and they had to run for their lives.

"There should be some signs for the crossing, there are none at the minute. Also, beacon has faded and there is no illumination on it.

"People also park on the pavement near to the crossing as well so oncoming drivers can't see if people are waiting to use the crossing.

"I also think it is ineffective because it's next to a bus stop.

"I have contacted the county council with my concerns. It would be better to have a set of traffic lights at this spot."

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council responded: "We are aware of the issue that has been raised about this zebra crossing and are currently investigating."

Lady golfers aim to bake up a boost for Blood Bikes charity

BEACON Ladies Golf Club in Up Holland may be having to deal with falling membership numbers, but their fundraising efforts are still going as strong as ever.

And today (Wednesday, May 30) they are hosting a Booked and Baked sale at the club from 2 to 4pm. All proceeds will go towards the Lady Captain's Charity which is North West Blood Bikes.

Chris Williams and Bill Casey, who represent North West Blood Bikes, will be present on the day.

Angela Scott from the Beacon Ladies Section said: "Beacon Ladies Club Section has been in existence for more than 35 years and although numbers are dwindling we are still trying to keep the Ladies section together.

"One of our claims is that we have always managed to help local charities through our very generous fundraising."

Artist Mark Mennell and pupils with the new mural at Little Digmoor school

School's history captured in mural

PUPILS at Little Digmoor Primary School in Skelmersdale have been working to create a mural to depict the history and locality of the school.

They have been working with Wigan-based artist, Mark Mennell, to create mosaics and the mural that tells the story of the school.

The main mural, situated in the KS2 playground, was inspired by Van Gogh's 'Starry Night' painting and shows British wildlife animals which represent the names of the classes, as well as Ashurst Beacon and an image of a mineshaft.

The school site was, until 60 years ago, surrounded by coal mines including Almond and Tawd Vale Collieries.

The traditional plough also represents the farm that used to occupy the site the school as stood on for 51 years.

Mark Mennell said: "It's been great drawing inspiration from the children's ideas and enthusiasm."

Mayor's near £11k boost for charities

THE outgoing Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Neil Furey, has presented cheques totalling £10,875 to charities he has supported during his year of office.

The sum was raised by Cllr. Furey and Mayoress wife, Julie, with the support of the Mayor's Charity Committee, as a result of a number of fundraising functions, including an Alternative Ascot Day at Lancashire Manor Hotel, Skelmersdale and an event with opera singer Rachael Russell and the Kelly Shirley School of Dance at the Stanley Institute in Burscough.

The Mayor's Charity Ball, also held at the Lancashire Manor, was another great success, as was Deputy Mayor, Councillor Noel Delaney's 75th birthday raffle at O'Brien's Tea Rooms in Ormskirk.

Collections at Asda, Morrison's and Booths supermakets helped to increase the total and there was also a donation from the Tawd Valley Lions.

Cllr. Furey said: "Julie and I are very grateful to everyone who has donated money to our chosen charities this year and to the hard-working members of the Mayor's Charity Committee. I have many happy memories and I hope the money will make a big difference to these very worthy causes."

One of Cllr. Furey's last duties as mayor was to present the cheques to his chosen charities, the 42nd Ormskirk (Skelmersdale St Paul's) Scouts, the Evermoor Hub and The Sewing Rooms in Skelmersdale.

Maureen Fazal, a co-director of the Sewing Rooms, said: "We are really pleased to receive this money which will go towards supporting our Silver Sewers Group. There is a lot of loneliness among older people and this group helps to combat that with many friendships forged."

Margaret Highton, director of the Evermoor Hub management team, said: "The money we have received will really help us and we have lots of ideas on how we can spend it, including improving storage space at the hub and possibly providing some courses on healthy eating."

The Scouts group will spend its donation on equipment to help young members enjoy their activities even more. Group Scout Leader, Ian Flavell, said: "We would like to thank the Mayor and everyone who has helped to raise this money which will be a really big help for our group."

The sun shines on SkemFest 2018

THE sun shone on this year's SkemFest with the glorious weather bringing out the crowds to enjoy a plethora of musical entertainment while raising funds for a good cause.

The popular event was staged over three days at the Quarry Bank Community Gardens at The Buffs in Ormskirk Road, Skelmersdale on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May, 25, 26 and 27.

This was the third staging of the music festival since its return to the town's calendar in 2016 following a break of almost a decade.

Local bands performed during the weekend with money raised going to Quarry Bank Community Gardens who do charitable work for the community.

Among the bands who appeared were Big Bambora, Hyena, Good Foxy, Museum of Backward Hats and Serpico.

Organisers of the event included Allan Brophy, Aaron Martin and Danny Fury.

Primary school 'appy' to move a step closer to going paperless!

Report by Henry James

A LOCAL primary school has followed up the launch of its own website last year with its own app.

Cobbs Brow Primary School in Manfield, Ashurst set up their website in October 2017 to "further strengthen communication and engage more effectively with our community."

Both the website and app were designed by Parentapps, specialists in providing hitch equipment for schools.

Headteacher, Ian Eaton, said: "Working closely together, Parentapps provided a bespoke website that was tailored to the school's needs. Throughout the production of the site, school was constantly updated and all our ideas were incorporated in to the design. The whole process was easy and affordable.

"Through our website, parents can access our online prospectus, holiday dates, admission information, dates of events and nursery information.

"Each class also uploads weekly newsletters which inform parents about special events, recent class news and overviews of any themes or topics to support learning outside of school.

"The website also includes the names of children who have achieved 'worker of the week' and we inform parents of the classes with the best attendance.

"The app is free for parents and is linked directly to our website. As a result, parents can be contacted via the integrated messaging service, access newsletters and term dates, complete consent forms and even report pupil absences to name but a few of the features.

"More than 98% of parents currently use our app."

It's hoped that, in the not-too-distant future, the school will eventually go paperless. Mr Eaton added: "The move to go paperless will not only save the school money by reducing the amount of photocopying and paper used, but it will also support protecting our environment."

Veterans' association award honorary roles to stalwart duo

Report by Henry James

THE Skelmersdale Veterans' Association has bestowed honorary positions on two of its staunch members.

Margaret Nind has been made president of the association, while Tommy Creevy has been made Association Force Champion.

Both have been involved in the group since it was founded.

Tommy Creevy joined the army in 1952 and served until 1969.

He saw service in the Far East, Sudan and the Suez Canal and was a member of the South Lancashire Prince of Wales Regiment.

Margaret, known as Peggy, was a member of the Land Army and moved from Liverpool to Stratford-upon-Avon. As a member of the association she has visited local care homes and primary schools.

Meanwhile, the Skelmersdale Veterans' Association has confirmed it will be holding an Armed Forces Fun Weekend on Saturday and Sunday, July 14 and 15 at the Blaguegate Playing Fields, Railway Road, Old Skelmersdale.

It had been hoped to bring back the Huey helicopter for the occasion but the committee could not raise the funds to pay for it.

Association chairman, Alan Lewis, said: "The weekend promises to be a spectacular event with an exciting and packed programme for the whole family to enjoy and get involved with.

'Stronger'

"The relationship between the local community and the armed forces has never been stronger. If you get the chance on July 14 and 15 please come to the event and speak to the veterans and share in their adventures.

"The veterans' village will be full of fun and interactive activities offering hours of entertainment with a fantastic selection of static displays and exhilarating drill displays.

"There will be more than 20 organisations and charities represented within the veterans' village, including stalls offering information, advice and support on a wide range of issues.

Tommy Creevy and Margaret Nind who have been handed honorary roles by the Skelmersdale Veterans' Association

"We would like to thank a number of local companies for their support such as Hotter, Skelmersdale Action For Youth, Wigan Athletic Community Trust and Skelmersdale Taxis."

In addition, the Military Vehicle Trust Village will have a display of military vehicles and equipment to explore and their volunteers will be on hand to show people how and what their equipment is used for.

Also on display will be various weapon systems, ranging from pistols to machine guns.

The association are also looking for people wishing to hold stalls at the event. If you would like to have a stall contact Alan Moore by email at svasec@outlook.com

The association has booked a number of different organisations for the event, such as the British Legion and Combat Stress.

Members from the association are also supporting the Armed Forces Day in Llandudno and have also been invited to Southport's Armed Forces Parade on Sunday, July 1.

The Skem Men-Aces Euro stars, Darryl Morris and Haydn Pulford

Men-Aces duo help Team GB to third place finish at Euro tournament

TWO members of the Skem Men-Aces disability football team have helped the Mencap Team GB team to achieve a creditable third place finish at the Euros in Switzerland.

Haydn Pulford and Darryl Morris were chosen from hundreds of other hopefuls to be included in the squad for the tournament in Geneva.

The team's first group game was a hard-fought 1-1 draw with France, with Darryl Morris scoring the equaliser for Team GB after they had fallen behind.

Next up was a high-tempo encounter with Italy and this time it was Haydn who played a key role, pulling off an important save applauded around the stadium as the team went on to win with two magnificent goals.

This was followed by successive 0-0 draws against Switzerland and Denmark.

Then, despite the sweltering conditions Team GB stayed strong to beat Germany and win their group. Darryl again shone, scoring a further two goals as the team won 4-0.

Nervous

That meant that Team GB ended up in third place behind winners, Italy and runners-up, Spain.

Haydn said: "It was a long tiring four days of football, but worth it." And Darryl commented: "The experience will stay with me for the rest of my life."

And both admitted: "Butterflies were dancing. We've never been so nervous."

Next up for the pair and their Skem Men-Aces teammates is a trip to Ireland for a four-day competition in a couple of week's time.

Men-Aces manager, Carl Eaton, said: "Haydn and Darryl have a little time to rest and to collect themselves. Creating opportunities like these for the Men-Aces players helps them build their confidence and achieve things that they wouldn't otherwise get the chance to do, thanks to the beautiful game."

Civic reception for borough's outstanding volunteers

THE newly-appointed Mayor and Mayoress of West Lancashire, Councillor Noel Delaney and Mrs Ann Stubbert, will host a reception and awards evening for volunteers of the West Lancs CVS who have achieved 10 and 200 hours of volunteering and for outstanding contribution to volunteering over the past year.

This will be held at the council chamber in Derby Street, Ormskirk, starting at 6.30pm on Thursday, May 31.

Care home group listed in 'inspirational' companies report

THE Springhill Hall Care Group, which operates the Birch Green Care Home in Ivydale, Skelmersdale, has been identified as one of the '1,000 Companies to Inspire Britain' in a report by the London Stock Exchange Group.

The list is the fifth edition of the report, which celebrates the UK's fastest-growing and most dynamic small or medium-sized enterprises (SMEs).

To be included in the list, companies need to show consistent revenue growth over a minimum of three years, 'significantly outperforming their industry peers.'

The Springhill group, which also has care homes in Accrington and Bristol, is one of 91 companies in the North West and one of 54 nationally operating in the healthcare sector to feature on the list.

Donna Briggs, managing director of the Springhill Care Group

Group managing director, Donna Briggs, said: "This is a significant recognition of the hard work by all at the Springhill Care Group.

"There is no doubt the care sector is facing challenges and we have worked hard to ensure that our staff are supported in their careers and our residents continue to benefit from the highest quality, person-centred care possible."

Nikhil Rathi, chief executive officer of the London Stock Exchange Plc, said: "We warmly congratulate all of the companies identified in this year's '1000 Companies to Inspire Britain' report.

"The report demonstrates the strength and diversity of British businesses across the country. These dynamic companies are the backbone of our economy, playing an important role in the UK's ability to innovate, export and grow."

Action plan forced on Northern Rail to improve services

Transport body concern about 'inadequate performance'

Report by Henry James

NORTHERN Rail has been forced to accept an action plan to improve its poor levels of service.

Transport for the North and the Department for Transport, acting through the Rail North Partnership, are concerned with Northern's 'inadequate performance' in running the franchise and growing unrest from fed-up passengers.

A 'timetable recovery plan' has now been put in place by Northern in response to the current performance issues which it is hoped will restore services to 'acceptable levels of reliability at the earliest opportunity.'

The Champion reported last week how new timetables had brought misery to passengers throughout the region, including those using the West Lancashire line from Southport to Manchester and stations at Bescar Lane, New Lane, Burscough Bridge, Hoscar, Parbold and Appley Bridge.

Barry White, chief executive of Transport for the North, said: "We are extremely disappointed and concerned with the inadequate performance of Northern.

Barry White, chief executive of Transport for the North

"We have received a timetable recovery plan from Northern to address these concerns and improve the rail experience for passengers. Both Transport for the North and the Department for Transport, through the Rail North Partnership, will be monitoring progress against the plan on a daily basis."

Northern's Action Plan includes:

•Improving driver rostering to get more trains running now.

•Increasing driver training on new routes to get more services on line as quickly as possible.

•Additional contingency drivers and management presence at key locations in Manchester.

•Putting extra peak services in the timetable along the Bolton corridor, including between Buckshaw and Manchester Victoria, and Preston and Manchester Oxford Road.

In ensuring the effective implementation of the plan with Northern, the Rail North Partnership will, they say, be focusing on the following key measures:

•Calling on Northern to improve early communication of service disruptions to the public.

•Strengthening resources within The Rail North Partnership Team to ensure Northern's Action Plan can be closely monitored throughout its implementation.

•Daily calls between the train companies and Network Rail to manage the operational elements of running the new timetable.

Councillors get the 'inside story' on award-winning social enterprise

Report by Henry James

Skelmersdale county councillors, Julie Gibson (first left) and John Fillis during their visit to The Sewing Rooms

SKELMERSDALE Lancashire County Councillors Julie Gibson and John Fillis paid a visit to The Sewing Rooms, the award-winning social enterprise based in the town.

The organisation provides a range of activities and courses for people who may be at risk of social isolation by providing them with skills to help boost their confidence and improve their health and wellbeing.

County Councillor Gibson, the county's shadow cabinet member for regeneration, said: "We were really pleased to visit the group and see first-hand the work that they do.

"It is so refreshing to see businesses such as these playing a vital part in their local communities. Social enterprises are a great way to reconnect people with their communities and this clearly underpins the work carried out at The Sewing Rooms."

And County Councillor Fillis added: "It was great to see the workshops, particularly the upholstery workshops and soft furnishings, these provide a valuable income stream for the group and it is refreshing to see that income is re-invested into the people and communities of West Lancashire."

The councillors also took time to sit with the group and look at ways in which they could support it in the future and to hear about the latest projects they are involved in, in particular the march commemorating 100 years of women receiving the vote set to take place in June.

Chief executive of The Sewing Rooms, Paula Gamester, said: "It was such a pleasure to welcome John and Julie and show them around our premises to see first-hand some of the work we do.

"The profits we make from these activities go right back into funding our bespoke community projects."

Cllr. Gibson concluded: "Over the next few months I will be visiting other SMEs in the area to highlight their work and showcase the positive impact they have on the economy of West Lancashire."

Shopping centre's Fun Day draws the crowds - despite that wedding!

THE wedding of Prince Harry and Meghan Markle wasn't the only right-royal knees-up taking place on May 19.

The 'kings and queens' of the Concourse shopping centre's market hall held a free Fun Day promising an afternoon of entertainment.

The event, organised by Paul Davies, owner of the Sweet Stall in the market hall, saw excited children with beautifully painted faces (courtesy of Angels Children's Parties), waiting patiently for the arrival of much-loved cartoon characters Marshall and Cat Boy and enchanting princesses, Ariel, Snow White and Elsa, provided by Party Time Friends Character Hire.

Kicking off the event was the talented Danny Fellows, doubling as both singer and DJ, while Kevin the Clown, aka Kevin Rafferty, wowed the crowds with balloon modelling and magic tricks.

Children from Becky Lou's Dance school impressed with their fantastic routines and the event ended with a martial arts display by Sparta.

Shoppers also had the chance to win prizes kindly donated by the traders and mother and daughter, Vanessa Ingram and Charley Ainsworth from Skelmersdale, both struck lucky.

Mother and daughter, Vanessa and Charley both got lucky in the market hall Fun Day prize draw

Vanessa won a personalised baby vest and hat from Bobbie's Boutique and Charley scooped top prize of £50 worth of shopping vouchers to spend exclusively in the market hall.

Other prizes included £10 voucher from The Coffee Pot and Murphy's Butchers; a £45 watch from Adams Corner Jewellers; a bath bomb gift set from Bathroom Heaven; and a large, personalised pizza treat box from the Sweet Stall.

Anne Peters, interim retail marketing manager at the Concourse, said: "Markets are a vital part of our nation's high streets and town centres and that's no different here at the Concourse. It's more important than ever we help support our local independent traders in this tough economic climate.

"The idea for this event was born out of the Love Your Local Market national campaign, running from May 17 to 31. We wanted to work with traders to create something that would be exciting for the children but would ultimately benefit them too.

"We held the event in the market hall, as opposed to our usual promotional space, in order to drive footfall into the area. And despite the royal wedding and sunny weather we saw a fantastic turnout."

LENNY'S HAS A 5 STAR FOOD HYGIENE RATING

Borough Labour group celebrates achieving 'gender equality' on council - well, almost!

Report by Kenny Parker

New councillors Vickie Cummins, Sue Evans, and Kath Lockie at the vote count at the recent elections with new Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Noel Delaney.

OFFICIALS of the West Lancashire Labour group are celebrating the 'historic achievement' of returning an almost 50/50 ratio of male and female borough councillors at the latest elections.

And Maureen Mills, Labour councillor for Halsall ward, said that the result is fitting given that this year marks the centenary of the first women winning the right to vote in the UK.

With female candidates winning seats in Burscough and North Meols, and retaining seats in Ormskirk and Skelmersdale, the Labour group's 33 positions on West Lancs Council are now held by 17 men and 16 women.

Meanwhile at county council level, exactly 50% of Labour councillors are women.

Deputy leader of West Lancs Council, Councillor Yvonne Gagen, said: "This is a fantastic result for all women across the borough of West Lancashire, as it brings a greater representative balance to the council.

"Each of our new councillors went through a rigorous selection process and were chosen by their local residents as outstanding candidates for their wards.

"They all went on to fight a determined campaign, just like the women who fought for our right to vote 100 years ago.

"The Labour Party is committed to gender equality in politics and we are immensely proud that West Lancashire is leading the way locally in achieving this."

Councillor David Westley, leader of the Conservative group on West Lancs Council, said: "The Conservative Party has nothing to learn from Labour in terms of equal opportunity. It selects local authority and parliamentary candidates for their ability, not gender.

"I think it is telling that the Conservatives have produced the first two female prime ministers in Margaret Thatcher and Theresa May."

Paul White receives the cheque £5,000 from Santander Bank's Natalie Davis flanked by staff and volunteers from Ormskirk School.

Santander bankrolls mentoring project!

Report by Kenny Parker

SANTANDER bank has donated £5,000 to fund an innovative scheme at Ormskirk School which will see older students mentor young pupils to help them overcome possible obstacles to success in school.

An Inclusive Future (AIF), a non-profit Community Interest Company based in Ormskirk, has set up a peer mentoring project called Provoking Purposeful Enthusiastic Living.

Paul White, one of the directors of the company, says that the aim is to enable Year 7 pupils (11 and 12 year-olds) who would benefit from extra assistance, to be matched with Year 12 students (17 and 18-year-olds) who will provide clear and structured mentoring support to raise aspirations, build confidence and help overcome any barriers to learning and social development.

The £5,000 awarded to the company by Santander will be used to train the Year 12 students and pay for AIF to monitor the project.

Work has already started and youngsters have been paired off with training provided by Merseyside Youth Association.

Exciting

Paul says the Year 12 mentors have proved enthusiastic volunteers.

"They have come up with some great ideas which we hadn't even anticipated. It's quite an innovative project and they are really excited about it."

Though the project is initially planned to run for 12 months Paul hopes to extend it and introduce it to other schools.

He said: "Mentoring is a big thing at the moment. Movie stars, rock stars and business leaders are all accessing mentors so why might Year 7s not need a little bit of support in school?

"It's an exciting, innovative approach which we can hopefully roll out to the wider area."

Natalie Davis, director at Santander's branch in Moor Street, Ormskirk, said: "We are delighted to be able to provide 'An Inclusive Future' with a cheque for £5,000 from Santander's Discovery Grant Scheme which supports more than 700 organisations per year that improve people's knowledge and skills or which provide innovative solutions to overcome social challenges.

"An Inclusive Future is a much-deserving project and we are pleased they applied to us for a grant. We look forward to helping more projects like this within our local community."

Diabetic's call to make 'life-changing' device available on NHS

Report by Kenny Parker

A DIABETIC from West Lancashire is appealing for the public to support a new policy to provide what she descirbed as 'life-changing' technology on the NHS for those who have to monitor their own blood glucose levels.

For more than 30 years Elisabeth Perry has had to prick her fingers several times daily to draw blood to check her glucose levels on a test strip and meter, a process which she says can be painful.

Then, the retired admin worker was given the opportunity to trial a special glucose-monitoring device consisting of a small sensor worn on the skin which continuously records blood sugar levels and relates them to a digital reader or mobile phone through an app.

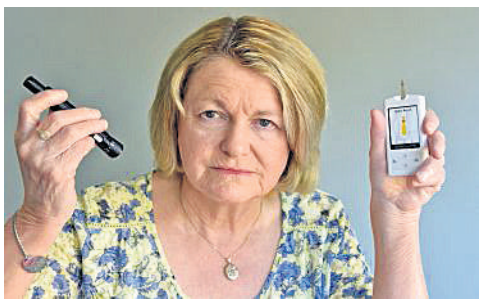
However, these devices are currently only available by prescription on the NHS subject to the approval of local health commissioners.

The West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) has drafted a policy which would make them available in the borough for people who meet certain criteria and has launched a public consultation running until the end of June.

And Elisabeth, who was diagnosed with type 1 diabetes when she was 11 years old, is urging diabetics to take part in the consultation. The 60-year-old from Aughton said: "This would be life-changing for diabetics, particularly for those who regularly test their blood sugar."

Leading research charity, Diabetes UK, says that the new machines, which cost £35 per sensor and last two weeks, are 'cost-neutral' for those who test their own blood eight times per day due to the cost of the equipment they currently use.

But they claim there would be much greater savings in the long term as the device, known as 'Flash', helps people to test more frequently, and gives them much more information. This, in turn, they say supports improved control of the condition which can then reduce the risk of serious diabetes-related complications, such as amputation, blindness and stroke.



Elizabeth Perry and her blood glucose monitoring equipment.

The consultation can be viewed on NHS West Lancashire CCG's website, along with two other draft policies; the supply and funding of insulin pumps for patients with diabetes; and the management of back pain with spinal injections.

Opportunities to discuss these policies face-to-face can also be arranged by emailing mlcsu.haveyoursay@nhs.net or calling 01772 214244.

Comments on the policies must be submitted by no later than Friday, June 29.

Greg Mitten, chief officer of West Lancs CVS and lay member for patient and public involvement at NHS West Lancashire CCG, said: "The policies which we are now consulting on may have an impact on many of our residents, it is therefore vitally important that our population have their say on what we are proposing."

Police launch new initiative to safeguard people living with dementia

LANCASHIRE Constabulary chose Dementia Action Week (May 21-27) to launch a new initiative designed to help safeguard people living with the condition.

The force has teamed up with the Alzheimer's Society and other emergency services to launch the Herbert Protocol in the county, a scheme designed to assist the search process when vulnerable people go missing.

The protocol involves families pre-preparing information on loved ones, including descriptions and places they are known to visit, so that should they go missing, police have all the essential information they need to hand to help with their investigation.

The scheme, already up and running in other parts of the country, will not only assist officers but also reduce the stress on family and friends in the event of a missing person's inquiry.

Inspector Christina Shorrock from Lancashire Police said: "With an ageing population, dementia is something that will inevitably affect us all, either personally, professionally or both.

"As such, I'm very pleased that we are working in partnership with Alzheimer's Society, Lancashire Fire and Rescue Services and North West Ambulance Service, to promote this programme which aims to safeguard some of the most vulnerable members of our community and reduce stress on families in the event of a loved one with dementia going missing.

Priority

"It's just one of a range of different initiatives being undertaken by the constabulary as part of our commitment to being a Dementia Friendly organisation."

Alison Wakefield, Dementia Friendly communities officer with the Alzheimer's Society in the North West, said: "We are delighted that Lancashire Constabulary are introducing the Herbert Protocol for the 16,000-plus people living with dementia in Lancashire.

"People with dementia are particularly vulnerable if they go missing from a care home or other familiar setting. They may be trying to find their way back to their home or somewhere else from their past life that they have happy memories of, but can quickly become confused and completely lost."

Lancashire Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw, added: "I'm delighted to see Lancashire Constabulary build on the work that they have already done to support those with dementia. Supporting vulnerable people is a key priority and the Herbert Protocol is a clear example of this, highlighting a commitment to prevent vulnerable people from becoming victims of crime."

Rotary club donates 60 trees for borough cemetery memorial gardens project

Report by Kenny Parker

ORMSKIRK Rotary Club has donated 60 trees for gardens of remembrance to be created at the new West Lancs Cemetery and Crematorium.

As part of a nationwide campaign, Rotary clubs were called upon to plant a tree for each of their members.

The Ormskirk group decided to approach the cemetery in Pippin Street, Burscough to see if they would be interested in a joint project.

And the Westerleigh group, a leading developer and operator of crematoria and cemeteries in the UK which operates the site, were only too pleased to accept.

Currently about 40 acres of land at the crematorium, which was opened in 2016, are undeveloped but manager, Steve Glen, says they will become part of the planned memorial gardens.

Roger Forster, president of Ormskirk Rotary Club, said: "At the beginning of the year the President of Rotary International challenged every Rotary club to plant one tree for each member. The goal was obvious - trees are good for us. They absorb carbon and release oxygen, they support biodiversity and they improve soil, our climate and our moods. We need more of them.

"Set in the heart of the countryside on the edge of Burscough, this new cemetery and crematorium provides a natural place of peace and seclusion ensuring that the bereaved have the space and surroundings in which to grieve and to organise the funeral they want."

Roger Forster, Alan Jose and Steve Glen at the site of the planned memorial gardens.

Alan Jose, group ambassador for Westerleigh, said: "I would just like to say that West Lancashire Crematorium and the Westerleigh group are delighted to be the recipients of these trees donated by the Rotary Club of Ormskirk which will in time enhance the landscape of the crematorium grounds. And as a Rotarian of long-standing I am proud to be associated with this initiative."

All arguments must be balanced in council's revision of Local Plan

THE battle of Culloden, the last pitched battle on British soil, took place 272 miles from Ormskirk and 272 years ago.

In May this year, planning permission was granted to build 16 houses within the boundary of the Culloden Conservation Area on land the local communities have always regarded justifiably as an historic war grave.

The link to West Lancashire and the proposed revision of the Local Plan by the borough council is contained in a statement from the National Trust for Scotland which in part reads 'the situation at Culloden perfectly illustrates why the current planning system has to be reformed and that the current balance between the rights of communities, the significance of national heritage and the profits of developers is out of kilter.'

In revising the Local Plan, the borough council is quite rightly attempting to make sure a supply of 'deliverable' sites for development over the coming years is maintained.

The importance of this in the context of housing, especially affordable housing, is self-evident.

However, a backward glance historically may be worthwhile.

Two examples, one very recent, the other long ago.

The inclusion by the borough council of potential housing development land at Parrs Lane, Aughton in the Local Plan despite the predictable objections from the local community, resulted in costly appeals which finally and fortunately went against the developers.

The second example stems from a previous housing shortage. On this occasion the solution was found in the enforced wanton destruction of communities and the building of tower blocks, many now demolished but one still stands in the Royal Borough of Kensington, a silent, blackened testimony to alleged greed and incompetence.

The common thread in these disparate examples is the lack of weight given to the community viewpoint.

Not all counter arguments are based on the 'not in my back yard' philosophy, many are genuine, justifiable and predictable. They deserve greater consideration by both planners and politicians.

By the same token, not all developers should be cast as profiteers; they provide us with a basic human need, somewhere to live and work.

In revising the Local Plan, it's hoped the borough council will re-calibrate the balance.

CCG goes to great lengths to involve patients and public

FOLLOWING on from the article headed 'MP raises issues over transparency in contracting out of health services' (Champion, May 23) NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) would like to help clarify some of the points made within the article.

As a clinically-led statutory NHS body responsible for the planning and commissioning of health care services in West Lancashire, the CCG goes to great lengths to involve patients and the public in its work.

Examples of this openness include our Governing Body and Primary Care Commissioning Committee meetings, which are held in public and heavily promoted to encourage members of the public to attend.

In addition, news, policies and plans are published on the CCG's website and we proactively encourage members of the public to get in touch to have their say, by joining our My View group. My View is open to anyone living or working in West Lancashire and details on how to join are available on the My View page of the CCG's website.

From a commissioning perspective, we are required by law to ensure that all commissioning decisions are taken in compliance with both The Public Regulations 2015 and Procurement, Patient Choice and Competition Regulations 2013. Each commissioning decision is taken on its own merit and careful consideration is given to all the contractual options.

With regards to the Walk in Centre opening hours, Ormskirk Walk in Centre is open 8am to 8pm, seven days a week, these times remain consistent with the opening times as offered previously by Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust.

The opening hours of the Walk in Centre at the Skelmersdale Concourse were extended earlier this year and it is now also open from 8am to 8pm, seven days a week.

Obligation

In addition, Virgin Care is commissioned to provide a 24/7 unplanned care service, ensuring that there is always access to the right clinician, in the right place either at a Walk in Centre or via the Out of Hours GP Service.

Finally, all contracting authorities have an obligation to maintain confidentiality regarding specific and commercial details included in a contract.

All information that is available and appropriate to be shared, is made available and the CCG is fully compliant with the transparency agenda for public sector.

It is imperative that information obtained during a procurement procedure is shared appropriately to maintain confidentiality and avoid jeopardising a procedure.

This is relevant for all bidders involved in any competitive process.

NHS West Lancashire CCG

No excuse for leaving dogs in hot cars

HERE we are again with the weather warming up and still there are people ignorant enough to leave their dogs in cars.

Leaving a window open slightly just isn't enough.

Surely, we all know by now that a dog can die within a very short time when overheated, and how hot it gets inside a vehicle in a very short time.

There should never be an excuse to leave a dog in a car during the summer months. This should be made a criminal offence.

Lee's BAFTA success shows the true value of our local libraries

I WAS delighted to read in the last edition of the Champion that BAFTA had recognised the excellence of former local lad Lee McNicholas for his work on programmes such as X Factor and Britain's Got Talent.

How nice it was to see that Lee fully recognises and greatly appreciates the role that his inspirational drama teacher Mrs Little played in his success.

And at a time when we have seen so many of the county's libraries closed as a result of this government's crippling programme of 'austerity', it was particularly interesting to read that the many hours that Lee had spent studying in his local library was pivotal in him fulfilling his ambitions.

New recruits always welcome to join dedicated volunteers

IN the run-up to National Volunteering Week (June 1 to 7), Cats Protection would like to extend our thanks to the many thousands of volunteers throughout the country who offer their time and expertise to help cats and kittens across the UK.

In 2017 our 10,200-strong volunteer network contributed an incredible 5.5 million hours, each volunteer gifting a wealth of expertise and immeasurable passion to the charity.

Their dedication enabled Cats Protection to help around 200,000 cats and kittens nationwide.

Cats Protection is always on the lookout for new volunteers to join the UK's biggest cat community.

Though a large part of our work is helping cats, through fostering and re-homing, our volunteers have the opportunity to become involved with a range of interesting activities, such as organising fundraising events, helping with publicity, or managing funds and resources to benefit the greatest amount of cats.

Volunteering can offer the chance to develop skills such as time management, interpersonal skills and teamwork, making CVs much more attractive and, of course, helping cats!

Anyone who is interested in becoming a volunteer can go to our website www.cats.org.uk/get-involved/volunteering to find out more.

Katrina waves to children, staff and parents at the end of her 9.8 mile walk to school.

Teacher leads by example to launch 'Walk to School' week project

... and raises £1,500 for children's hospital unit

A PRIMARY school teacher led by example when her school launched a health initiative for children by walking almost 10 miles to work.

Katrina Williams, a teacher at St Anne's Catholic Primary in Ormskirk, abandoned her car for the day and made the 9.8 mile journey from her home in Formby on foot.

As the school in Aughton Street launched its 'Walk to School Week' project - aimed at promoting healthy living for children and consideration of the environment - Katrina decided to forego her drive to work, along with her usual trip to a coffee shop with a colleague!

Setting off at about 5.30am, she arrived at school in plenty of time to be greeted by staff, parents and pupils who had lined the driveway, clapping and cheering her as she took the final steps of her journey.

The Year 2 teacher, who was encouraged and supported on the way by friends, was said to be in good spirits at the end.

And her effort helped to raise a fabulous £1,500 for the oncology unit at Alder Hey Children's Hospital, smashing her original target of £150!

Vet's barbecue alert after pet dog swallows kebab skewer!

AS warmer weather encourages families out into the garden for barbecues a local vet is warning pet owners of the potential risks, after he had to operate on a dog which swallowed a kebab whole, including the skewer!.

Bertie, a nine-year-old wirehaired fox terrier was initially taken to a branch of Rufford Vets when he started making a gurgling noise. But apart from a mild temperature, the dog was still eating and passing faeces fine so he was prescribed medication and sent home where he seemed to be getting better until a lump was discovered on his side.

After admitting the dog for X-rays, vet Iain Fraser then conducted an exploratory laparotomy - a surgical procedure opening the abdomen to examine the internal organs - and located an intact 10cm wooden kebab skewer in the stomach!

The family had had a barbecue a few days before and Bertie must have picked up the skewer and meat and ingested it then.

The vet said: "Bertie was very lucky but we implore everyone to take care when enjoying this weather. BBQs can cause various issues for our pets and accidents can happen."

Fluffy new arrivals join the attractions at Martin Mere

STAFF at WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre have welcomed a group of fluffy new arrivals following the hatching of eight greater flamingo chicks.

Manager of the Burscough centre, Nick Brooks, said: "It is always great to see flamingo chicks at the centre. They are very popular with our visitors.

"We do a flamingo experience every day at 1.30pm where we put up a scope and show visitors eggs, skulls, feathers and pictures - it's a great talk and an opportunity to have the chicks pointed out.

"Our adult flamingos are actually as old as Martin Mere as they came from the Wildfowl and Wetlands Trust's Slimbridge reserve in Gloucestershire 40 years ago! The fact that they still continue to breed is credit to our team of aviculturists and the care they show the birds."

The greater flamingos is one of six species of flamingos found in the world and the least vibrant-coloured, being a pale salmon pink.

Flamingos are very social birds which need to be kept together in a large group in order for them to be happy.

At Martin Mere they currently have 90 greater flamingos who choose the same partners every year.

A single egg is laid by each pair and both the male and female take it in turns to incubate. Incubation takes approximately 30 days and all chicks are parent-reared as these social youngsters benefit from being with their mum and dad, as well as with each other.

In addition, adult flamingos produce a special crop milk to feed their babies on (pigeons are the only other bird to do this).

The fluffy chicks grow very quickly - up to two centimetres a day - and they are fully-fledged by the age of three months. They are usually grey or white in colouring and it takes approximately two to three years to obtain full pink plumage.

The attentive parents watch over one of the latest fluffy arrivals at Martin Mere

Council adopts scheme to prevent taxis discriminating against disabled passengers

Report by Kenny Parker

WEST Lancs Council is among a minority of local authorities nationwide that have taken steps to protect disabled taxi passengers from being overcharged, according to research by a disability activist.

The council is one of only a third of authorities across the region to have created so-called Section 167 lists, which aims to hold taxi drivers to account if they discriminate against disabled passengers.

A change in the Equality Act enacted in April last year means that taxi drivers could face fines of up to £1,000 if they refuse to transport wheelchair users or attempt to charge them extra.

However the rules only apply to vehicles on the Section 167 lists which councils need to create and many haven't done so despite a Government-recommended deadline of October 2017.

In West Lancashire 100% of registered taxi drivers have been included on the list.

The research was carried out by Doug Paulley, a wheelchair user and disability rights campaigner.

However, the local authority was found to be in the majority when it came to not providing disability awareness training for taxi drivers to enable them to know how to safely work with disabled people.

A spokeperson for West Lancs Council stated: "The council considers it important that people with disabilities have access to all forms of public transportation and this is supported through the adoption of this legislation, which is detailed in its Hackney Carriage & Private Hire Statement of Licensing Policy.

West Lancs Council has long required all licensed Hackney Carriages to be wheelchair accessible now it's seeking to protect disabled taxi passengers from being overcharged.

"The council has long required that all licensed Hackney Carriages must be wheelchair accessible and the adoption of this new law gives these responsibilities statutory effect.

"The council is committed to helping the local taxi trade to continually improve its service and is currently developing its safeguarding training so that it forms part of the process for first time and renewed licence applications. It will consider whether there should be a disability awareness element in this training."

Hospitals and MPs back campaign to combat loneliness

by Danielle Thompson

Terry Durrance (2nd from right) and friends launch the booklet campaign to 'banish loneliness'

A PROJECT to tackle loneliness in the community has been launched at Southport and Ormskirk hospitals.

West Lancs MP, Rosie Cooper and Southport MP, Damien Moore are backing the initiative, which was set up by Sefton borough councillor, Terry Durrance in partnership with the Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust.

All patients being discharged from the hospitals will be given a booklet containing contact details of a number of organisations who can help lonely people, including luncheon clubs, activity centres, the U3A, Esther Rantzen's SilverLine and charities including Contact the Elderly and Independent Age.

The initiative was launched at the hopsitals by the two MPs and Cllr. Durrance alongside representatives from many of the organisations involved.

Cllr Durrance said: "Many years ago, as a member of Southport Rotary, I delivered Christmas food parcels and one lonely, bereaved lady's eyes lit up at the company.

"She told me that she only ever spoke to the postman. Since then I have been doing whatever I can to support those who set out to alleviate loneliness wherever I can.

"There are a great number of organisations out there who can help lonely people but the difficulty is actually making contact with those who can best benefit from their services.

"To persuade those who are most vulnerable to make contact with the organisation will improve the quality of their lives.

"There is a very real culture of loneliness and once people accept that they are destined to go down that path it is difficult for them to escape.

"For quite some time I have been making a nuisance of myself by hammering away about the plight of lonely people in our society. This is a huge step forward and I have to thank Matron Michelle Kitson for her enthusiasm in setting up this project so that the consideration of loneliness features as part of the discharge procedure for all patients discharged.

"I would also thank Justine Shenton of Sefton Pensioners Advocacy and Anne Oliver of Lancashire Age UK for helping to get this project up and running and the support and funding from the Southport Rotary Club and the organisations who have all contributed to the booklet.

"Loneliness is something that we should all be determined to do something about. Lets make the launch of this project the turning point."

Don't make waste when the sun shines!

County council urges public to remember to 'reduce, reuse and recycle' when enjoying the good weather

ENJOY the sunshine but don't forget to reduce, reuse and recycle is the message from Lancashire County Council.

Good weather can mean extra waste being produced as people depart from routine and grab food on the go while enjoying the sun.

But it also means there are plenty of opportunities to be kinder to the environment by recycling everything possible and avoiding generating unnecessary waste while out and about or hosting family and friends.

The authority has issued the following tips:

• Avoid using single-use plastic cutlery and tableware for parties, picnics and BBQs. People are being advised to use what they have already got, or consider investing in reusable plastic tableware if they are concerned about breakages.

• Residents are being asked to reduce food waste by only buying and cooking what they need. For example, if holding a BBQ, buy equal numbers of burgers and buns. Individuals could reduce waste even more by not buying meat packed in plastic trays.

• Take care during the cooking process to make sure none is wasted. Pre-cooking items before placing them on the BBQ for a final smoky flavour is safer and may lead to less wasted food due to items ending up burned on the outside and frozen in the middle.

County Councillor Charlie Edwards

• People who are camping or picnicking, are being asked to take several rubbish sacks so they can separate recyclables and put them in the right bins when they get back home. This is better than mixing everything together and separating later as recyclable items have less value if contaminated with food.

• Individuals are being asked to keep up their usual recycling habits. Give recyclables a quick rinse out, remove labels and remove lids from metal and plastic items – they can be recycled too but are often made from different types of metal/plastic and can't be recycled together.

• Pizza boxes can be recycled, even if they are a bit greasy, but all visible traces of food must be removed first. Please scrape any melted cheese, tomato and toppings completely off before placing in the recycle bin.

County Councillor Charlie Edwards, Lancashire's lead member for health and adult services, said: "We've become a lot better at recycling in recent years, but there's still lots of room for improvement and we could increase Lancashire's recycling rate by 16% if everyone always puts the right thing in the right bin.

"Please think about what you throw away and what you buy, as with a little bit of planning we can all recycle more and reduce the amount of waste we produce – it all adds up and makes a real difference."

More recycling tips can be found on Lancashire County Council's website at www.lancashire.gov.uk/waste-and-recycling/recycle-for-lancashire.

New schools pack highlights food allergies threat

LANCASHIRE County Council has developed a new resource for schools to educate young people about how serious food allergies can be; what they can do to protect people with serious allergies; and how to help if someone has a bad reaction.

The initiative follows concerns that a lack of understanding among their peers can lead to bullying and young people with food allergies taking risks by eating things they know they shouldn't to avoid revealing their allergy.

The lesson pack includes a film called A Day in the Life of Chloe, featuring a real teenage girl who has a life-threatening airborne strawberry allergy.

Chloe recounts some of her experiences, including online bullying, and tells how she and other people with allergies would like to be treated.

The Burnley College student who was diagnosed with the allergy when she was two years old, produced a play performed last year with her two sisters and a friend which formed the basis for the film.

The initiative is being backed by the national Anaphylaxis Campaign and Gemma and Adam Lee from Oswaldtwistle, whose 15-year-old daughter Megan died in 2017 from acute asthma due to a nut allergy.

Increase

A launch event was held earlier this month to promote the pack to schools where speakers include the Lees and Lynne Regent, chief executive of the Anaphylaxis Campaign, Dr Sakthi Karunanithi, Lancashire County Council's director of public health and wellbeing, and Rachel Wilcock, food safety officer for the county council's Trading Standards.

Food allergy is a growing public health issue with a dramatic increase in allergic diseases in recent years and one in three of the UK population living with an allergy of some form.

County Councillor Shaun Turner, Lancashire's cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "Every school is likely to have at least one pupil who is severely food-allergic, and many schools will have more than one student who lives with a serious allergy.

"We've developed these resources to increase awareness of food allergy as a serious issue and help educate young people and adults about the potentially life-threatening nature of the disease.

"It's important that people with allergies don't feel embarrassed by their allergy and that students know how to make it as safe as possible for those with allergies and how to help them if they have a reaction."

Link between tobacco and killer disease highlighted

TO mark World No Tobacco Day on Thursday (May 31) tobacco users in Lancashire are being urged to understand the link between the use of the substance and cardiovascular disease.

According to the World Health Organisation, cardiovascular disease kills more people than any other cause of death worldwide, and tobacco use and second-hand smoke exposure contribute to approximately 12 percent of all heart disease deaths.

Cardiovascular disease is a general term for conditions affecting the heart or blood vessels. It is one of the main causes of death and disability in the UK, and is caused by a range of factors that include smoking, high blood pressure, high cholesterol, diabetes and inactivity.

Tobacco use is the second leading cause of cardiovascular disease, after high blood pressure. The global tobacco epidemic kills more than seven million people each year, of which close to 900,000 are non-smokers dying from breathing second-hand smoke.

Gareth Beck from Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust's Quit Squad said: "Tobacco use is a threat to people regardless of background and socio-economic status. Every year, more than seven million people die from it, a figure that is expected to grow to over eight million by 2030.

"World No Tobacco Day is a good way to raise awareness of the health risks associated with smoking and chewing tobacco."

People can access the Quit Squad service in their local community by visiting a drop-in clinic (for which no appointments are required) or by attending a one-to-one session.

The Quit Squad also offers sessions in the community and workplace. For further details, telephone 0800 3286297, visit www.quitsquad.nhs.uk, or follow the Quit Squad on Twitter @LancashireCare #QuitSquad.

The countdown is on to Ormskirk MotorFest 2018

Early call for marshals to help with smooth running of ever-popular August bank holiday crowd-puller

ORGANISERS of the ever-popular Ormskirk MotorFest are urging motoring enthusiasts to make sure they are in pole position to enjoy one of the biggest free family events in the North West of England.

And they are appealing for marshals to join the fun and help the event go smoothly. You can sign up for this important role at www.ormskirkmotorfest.com.

The Ormskirk MotorFest has been a hugely popular occasion since it began in 2011, attracting around 30,000 people in 2016 and 2017.

This year's event, scheduled for Sunday, August 26 and organised once again by Aintree Circuit Club, supported by West Lancashire Borough Council, is set to be another fantastic day out for all the family.

Owners of classic, vintage and competition cars and motorcycles can visit the event website www.ormskirkmotorfest.com for information on how to enter.

John Hodson, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder for planning, said: "The Ormskirk MotorFest is a fantastic day out for all the family so make sure you don't miss this marvellous event. Some fabulous cars will once again be on display in the town centre and Coronation Park."

And Mike Ashcroft, Aintree Circuit Club chairman, added: "Put the date in your diary now for the 2018 Ormskirk MotorFest as it will be a fantastic event.

"If you want to be a marshal or if you own a classic, vintage or competition car or motorcycle and want to have it on display at the Motorfest please visit our website www.ormskirkmotorfest.com."

The Ormskirk MotorFest has drawn crowds of 30,000 to the town centre over the last two years.

The Concours de Elegance competition will once again be a feature at this year's MotorFest.

This will see some specially-presented vehicles line up for expert judges to cast their eye over them, including a 'Class of 58' for vehicles from that year with a trophy for the winner.

Owners can enter their vehicles in the Concours on the MotorFest website. Halsall-based Carequick Ltd. Air Conditioning, which specialises in building services, air conditioning and mechanical maintenance, are sponsoring the Concours de Elegance for the fourth successive year.

This attraction will complement the superb town-centre displays which will feature a fantastic variety of classic and modern cars and motorbikes. Many vehicles will join in parade laps around the town centre to entertain the crowds.

Win tickets to see Taylor Swift in concert

Taylor Swift is taking her Reputation tour to the Etihad Stadium in Manchester next week.

PRINCESS of pop Taylor Swift's Reputation Tour is set to arrive in Manchester next week and the Champion has eight pairs of tickets to giveaway for her concert at the Etihad Stadium on Saturday, June 9.

Taylor Swift's critically acclaimed sixth studio album, Reputation, topped iTunes album charts in 111 countries and debuted at No. 1 on the Official UK Albums Chart.

Selling more than 1.29 million copies in the US on its week of release, it was one of the highest selling albums there in 2017.

Taylor is the only artist in history to have four albums selling more than one million copies in their first week of release in the US - (2010's Speak Now, 2012's RED, 2014's 1989 and 2017's Reputation).

Taylor Swift's chart-topping first single, Look What You Made Me Do, from her sixth album, Reputation, broke multiple records within hours of its release.

With over 10 million streams, it is the most-streamed song in a one-day period ever, the lyric video for Look What You Made Me Do broke the standing record with over 19 million views, while the music video shattered the original most viewed video (28 million) record with 43.2 million views in only 24 hours.

Taylor is a ten-time Grammy winner, a singer, songwriter, musician and producer.

She is the youngest person in history to win the music industry's highest honour, The Grammy Award for Album of the Year and she is the first female solo artist to win this prestigious award twice. Rolling Stone listed Taylor as one of the 100 Greatest Songwriters of All Time.

Time magazine has named her one of the 100 Most Influential People in the world and one of only eight candidates for their most prestigious honour, 2014 Person of the Year.

West Lancs Slimming World consultants, Tina Whewell, Sue Allt, Sarah Salka and Kathy Burslem with some of the bags of clothes collected for Cancer Research UK

Slimmers aim to bag a boost for cancer charity

A BIG-hearted group of slimmers are swapping losing pounds for raising them in aid of a good cause.

Members of the West Lancashire Slimming World groups have collected more than 80 bags of clothes that they have successfully 'slimmed out of' to raise money for Cancer Research UK as part of national fundraising campaign, the Big Slimming World Clothes Throw.

Consultants who run the Ormskirk and Burscough groups encouraged members, their friends and families to collect the clothes, shoes and accessories they no longer need to generate stock for Cancer Research UK.

Senior consultant, Tina Whewell, said: "This year's Big Slimming World Clothes Throw event has been a fantastic success and I was overwhelmed by the amount of bags our members managed to collect for Cancer Research UK – they really are amazing!

"It was a fantastic atmosphere in the group and it was so rewarding to raise such a phenomenal amount of stock for such an incredible cause.

"And it's not just members of the group who have cleared out their wardrobes – we've had great support from the whole community. I'm still buzzing from all the donations we've had!

"Because our members are so sure they'll never need their 'big' clothes again, when we told them about the Big Slimming World Clothes Throw they couldn't wait to bag them up and donate them to charity.

"But there is also a more serious side to our support for Cancer Research UK. One in two people are diagnosed with some form of cancer during their lifetime, and being overweight can increase the chance of developing the disease.

"It's vital we spread the message that healthy eating, being physically active and losing weight by adopting healthy habits all help reduce the risk of developing cancer."

The clothes collected by Slimming World will be donated to Cancer Research UK shops across the country, with each bag raising up to £25 for the charity.

Last year slimmers collected close to £3.3m worth of stock for Cancer Research UK shops around the country and they're hoping to beat that total this year. All profits go to support the charity's life-saving work to help beat cancer sooner.

Town Green hot shots book county games final spot

TALENTED girl footballers from Aughton Town Green Primary School booked their place at the SPAR Lancashire School Games with a comprehensive triumph in the West Lancashire qualifying competition - winning all eight games without conceding a goal!

The Town Green girls defeated 13 other schools and will now represent the borough at the county finals at Blackpool's Stanley Park on Tuesday, July 3 against teams from 14 other Lancashire districts.

More than 3,500 children from schools across the county will compete in 16 sports, including gymnastics, football, athletics, mixed cricket and touch rugby, plus new additions to the games line-up for 2018, quick sticks and quad kids.

The SPAR Lancashire School Games is the biggest school games programme of its kind and is implemented by the county's school games organisers.

This will mark the 12th year the county's school games programme has been sponsored by James Hall & Company Ltd, the SPAR distributors for the north of England.

Slimming WORLD
touching hearts, changing lives

It's sad how 'Age of The Train' went off the rails...

I MAKE no apologies for sticking with the railways for a second week - though coming at the subject on a rather different line.

Because after watching two episodes of the excellent Channel 5 production, Inter City 125 - the Train that saved the Railway, it brought home to me another couple of points that to my mind shows how railways have declined over the past few years.

Mind you, though I agree with the basic premise that the HST (High Speed Train) did indeed usher in 'The Age of the Train', I did think it odd (and unfair) that no mention was made of what was then called 'The Sparks Effect', when new electric locos pulling improved carriages were introduced on the West Coast main line in the 1960s.

As a young journalist working on a local newspaper (yes, I have managed to come full circle) I remember writing an article about 'The Ton-up Train' and pointing out the increased passenger numbers travelling from Liverpool and Manchester to London and having the satisfaction of looking out of the train window on the section where the railway line parallels the M1 and seeing the cars being left behind.

You could make a case for saying the new electric service paved the way for the HST and now of course is superseding it (on the Great Western and East Coast routes anyway). But, in the 1980s the Inter City 125 did make a great impression, and many regular rail patrons regret its passing.

Trouble is though, in showing the HST at its finest and best, the programme also underlines how many of its finer points have been lost.

Many of the scenes in the programme showed passengers (I refuse to call myself a 'customer', or worse, 'guest') enjoying a leisurely full meal in the restaurant car and enthusing about the cooking arrangements installed in this new train. Find me a proper restaurant car on any train these days. Meals of a sort are available on Virgin's tilting trains, but you could hardly call it fine dining.

I once had a truly splendid silver service dinner on a train from Scotland to London, but perhaps oddly, that is not the one I most remember. That was on a rather more humble service from Norwich to the capital one weekday afternoon.

In those seemingly far off days (actually, again in the 1980s), the London-Norwich trains boasted not only a full buffet car service on all trains throughout the day, but a restaurant car serving breakfast, lunch or dinner at appropriate times, and also - and even then I think probably uniquely - High Tea on afternoon departures.

I took advantage of this one day, having been working in Norwich, having travelled from my then home in Colchester and making my way via London to Liverpool to spend the weekend with my family. I had an excellent small meal of grilled plaice, fried potatoes and peas, followed by a toasted teacake and a pot of tea. Absolutely civilised and great!

Another thing I think may have been lost (and I really hope I'm wrong on this) is the Sardine Supreme sandwich - one of the vastly-improved range of sandwiches brought in to replace the old and soggy British Railways kind. I always bought one from the kiosk on Colchester station before starting out for Liverpool on a Friday afternoon. They also did a good line in egg and tomato as well, and I never figured out how they prevented that from sogginess, but they did.

I do understand the reasons why train catering has slumped from the Golden Age of the HST. Cost, of course, is one but really I believe the main culprit is ourselves. Far more folk let the train take the strain nowadays, and the poor things are bursting at the seams.

So what to do? On long-distance trains at least, squash in an extra row of seats or two in each carriage and get rid entirely of the catering vehicles. So it's all our own fault then.

But the really strange thing is that the old adage 'You Get What You Pay For' is stood on its head. Instead of paying for a good meal in comfort on the train, you pay more for the privilege of getting less. Less space, less comfort and no food or drink!

Not long until Legally Blonde returns to Empire

THERE is not long to go now until Legally Blonde the Musical comes to the Liverpool Empire from June 5-9.

EastEnders' Rita Simons and Lucie Jones, who represented the UK in the Eurovision Song Contest with Never Give Up On You and Bill Ward, star of Coronation Street and Emmerdale star in this new UK tour of the smash-hit Broadway and West End musical Legally Blonde The Musical.

Legally Blonde The Musical also has two dogs in the cast, a Chihuahua called Bruiser and another called Rufus, a big, brutish, dog that only its mother could love.

Legally Blonde The Musical is an all singing, all dancing romantic comedy, a fun-filled, feel-good pink fest.

College sweetheart and homecoming queen Elle Woods, doesn't take no for an answer.

When her boyfriend dumps her for someone more serious, Elle puts down the credit card, hits the books and heads for Harvard Law School. Along the way, Elle proves that being true to yourself never goes out of style.

Based on the Reese Witherspoon film, Legally Blonde The Musical earned seven Tony nominations and 10 Drama Desk Award nominations during its Broadway run.

In the UK it was nominated for four Laurence Olivier Awards winning three including Best New Musical, and was nominated for eight Whatsonstage Awards winning four including Best Musical.

Rita Simons (Paulette Bonafonte) is best known for playing Roxy Mitchell in BBC's EastEnders for which she has won numerous awards and is one of Britain's best loved actresses.

She won Most Popular Newcomer at the National Television Awards and other awards and nominations include Best Newcomer at the Digital Spy Soap Awards, Best Onscreen Partnership for her character partnership with Ronnie Mitchell played by Samantha Womack, Best Newcomer at the TV

Legally Blonde Elle with her Greek Chorus

Now Awards, a nomination for Best Newcomer at the 2008 British Soap Awards and Best Newcomer at the 2008 Inside Soap Awards.

Lucie Jones (Elle Woods) is currently playing Maureen in the 20th anniversary UK tour of Rent.

Her previous theatre credits include: Elle Woods in Legally Blonde (Leicester Curve); Molly in Ghost (Asian Tour); Victoria in American Psycho (The Almeida); Meatloaf in We Will Rock You (International Tour); Kelly Byrne in The Prodigals (Edinburgh Festival); Cosette in Les Miserables (Queens Theatre, West End and O2 Arena).

Her TV acting credits includes: Melody Carver in Midsomer Murders (ITV); Louise in The Sarah Jane Adventures (BBC). Lucie was a finalist in the 2009 series of The X Factor.

Bill Ward (Professor Callahan) is best known for his work on two of the country's leading soaps.

He has just finished three years in Emmerdale, playing farmer James Barton (Ross, Pete and Finn's Dad) for over 300 episodes, who met a gruesome, death at the hands of his emotionally volatile partner, Emma, in one of the biggest storylines of the year.

Singer-songwriter performing at Civic

SINGER-SONGWRITER Chris Bannister is to perform at Ormskirk Civic Hall on Friday, June 8.

Chris began his career in the late 1980s as part of a four piece rock band.

In 1992 he released his first solo album Only Human which was recorded in Liverpool with keyboard player Bob Galvin as producer. The album gained immediate recognition from Bob Harris who was with Radio One at the time and a follow up single in 1993 We Were Children became a record of the week on Radio Two.

Subsequently, his live shows were enthusiastically received and, being much in demand, Chris spent the next few years focussed on extensive touring, with up to 200 live performances a year before releasing his second album Colours which he once again toured extensively.

In 2001 Chris recorded the album October Already at Revolution Studios in Cheshire. This was produced by Andy McPherson and Justin Richards and featured Roy Martin on drums and Sad Cafe's Ian Wilson on backing vocals and guitar. Follow up album 'Don't Forget Forgive' featured many of the same musicians and production team was also critical and commercial success.

Chris Bannister

October Already and Don't Forget Forgive served to cement Chris's reputation as a songwriter and performer of exceptional quality.

In 2010 Chris began touring with his solo show The Music of John Denver celebrating the life and work of the legendary singer/songwriter in his own unique way. Unlike "lookalike" tributes, Chris's uncanny ability to recreate the sound of John Denver has brought him widespread acclaim.

It is a testament to his talent that Chris now has an international reputation and no surprise to learn that he regularly performs in Aspen Colorado to sell out audiences.

Chris has worked alongside Wrecking Crew saxophonist and flautist Jim Horn who was the longest serving musician in Denver's band. Chris also worked with John Denver's legendary lead guitar player Steve Weisberg, who played on hits like Annie's Song Back Home Again and Grandma's Feather Bed. Steve sadly passed away for years ago, in recognition of Chris's work in honouring the music of John Denver, Steve bequeathed his 1937 Epiphone guitar to Chris in his will.

Chris most recent album entitled The Unicorn and Other Stories is a collection of Nova Scotian folk songs with entirely new arrangements and melodies which has delighted Chris's existing fans and served to introduce Chris to a new audience .

Shirley Ballas is to appear in Empire pantomime

Queen of Latin 'excited' about pantomime part

Interview by Henry James

HEAD judge on BBC's Strictly Come Dancing Shirley Ballas, who has danced all over the world, is to make her acting and panto debut and will lead the cast at this year's Liverpool Empire pantomime.

The Wallasey-born 'Queen of Latin' will star as Mother Nature in Jack and the Beanstalk, which will start performances from Friday, December 14.

She told the Champion: "Fee-fi-fo-fum I am doing panto and it is going to be a lot of fun. I have got a good sense of humour and I can laugh at myself. I'm excited to be able to transport audiences to another world and forget everything and truly get immersed in the show. It promises to be a fantastic show.

"I'm absolutely thrilled to bits to play Mother Nature at the Empire. It is going to be a challenge for me as I have not done this sort of performance before. However to do this has always been a dream of mine and I'm ecstatic about the offer and the part.

"I hope to have some dance routines. If not, I will make some of my own Cha-Cha routines on the spot."

Shirley took over from Len Goodman as head judge of Strictly Come Dancing and she was a hit with the audiences.

She commented: "I enjoyed my first season it was a very challenging role and I loved every minute of it. It was an experience of a lifetime.

"I have been in this industry all my life and I have known Lenny for many years, so I wasn't filling his shoes. I was bringing my own shoes to the table. You have to have your own version.

"Some of the highlights included when Simon Rimmer danced to You'll Never Walk Alone. Each person brought something special to the show. I enjoyed the moment when the Reverend came down from the cloud too. Debbie McGee was also fantastic.

"It is difficult having to see performers go home though as everyone on the show become such a family."

The Liverpool Empire's Theatre Director, Diane Belding said: "Strictly Come Dancing is one of the most popular programmes on television so who better to star in Liverpool's best pantomime than judge, Shirley Ballas. I'm sure Empire audiences will be as excited as we are to see Shirley returning home to Merseyside and performing live on the Empire stage."

SDC close their season with comedy

Preview: SDC Bar production at the Little Theatre, Southport
Same Time, Next Year

THIS year's SDC Bar Production, directed by Lynne Hawksworth, is one of the most popular plays of the century, Same Time, Next Year by Bernard Slade.

It ran for four years on Broadway, winning a Tony Award for lead actress Ellen Burstyn, who later recreated her role in the successful motion picture. It remains one of the world's most widely produced plays.

Les Gomersall and Trudi Hirsch star in this intriguing romantic comedy about a love affair between two people who, despite both being happily married to others, spend a clandestine night together at the same time every year.

A quarter of a century of manners and morals are hilariously and touchingly played out during these secret trysts.

Same Time, Next Year runs from Tues, June 5 to Sat, June 9 at 7.30pm each evening at the Little Theatre, Southport. Tickets from the Box Office. Tel 01704 530521/530460.

The MG ZR is basically your mum's Rover 25 but with a snazzier badge

A VW Lupo

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

IF you want to know who the gatekeepers are when it comes to what is – and what isn't – a classic car, you have to think literally. Often, it's the people in hi-vis jackets manning the entrances at your nearest car show.

Normally if I'm approaching in my MGB, I could put my house on being waved through with a warm smile (unless it's a show catering solely for hotted-up Subarus, of course), but I've approached in many a car where it could go either way.

At one show I was given an appreciative nod because I'd shown up in an MG ZR, which for all its rock-hard suspension and mesh grille is basically your mum's Rover 25 with a snazzier badge.

Yet barely a week later a Ford Puma, a swoopy coupe that did wonders for Ford's image when it was new, was met with a solemn expression and an outstretched arm pointing me in the direction of the public car park, alongside all the Vauxhall Insignias and Kia Cee'ds.

So what advice could I give the chap who emailed from Crosby the other day, pondering whether his beloved Volkswagen Lupo GTI has made it to classic car-dom?

This petite hot hatch is essentially the early Noughties predecessor to today's Up GTI, and shares its no-frills, lightness-added sense of fun. A lot of what made the original Golf so much fun lives on in both. It has an awful lot going for it, but because it's the equivalent of an 18-year-old queuing up for a nightclub with a freshly-shaven face, wearing trainers – I wouldn't be surprised to see it being turned away at the door.

The Lupo GTI has a few years yet before it'll be accepted just about everywhere – turn up at Goodwood or Brooklands in one, for instance, and the gatekeepers will probably laugh – but show up to one of the many Veedub-specific shows across the country this summer and it'll be met with appreciative nods and quiet mutterings of what a corking – and rare – car it is.

Despite the Government's best efforts there is no hard and fast rule as to what constitutes a classic car, and I'm glad that there isn't. One of the questions my Lupo-owning friend pondered was whether cars made between 2000 and 2010 now count as classics, but it'd be too simplistic to argue that a mid-spec Toyota Auris, for instance, is one simply because it was made in the same era as the little GTI. The Teletubbies got to number one barely a few weeks after The Verve's Bitter Sweet Symphony didn't – but does that mean they have stood the test of time?

Some things become classics overnight, and for some it's a slow-burning process that takes decades.

I've always reckoned the most important thing is how much time and love people put into them – and it's the same for VW Lupos, Morris Minors, Triumph motorcycles, steam locomotives and copies of Bitter Sweet Symphony.

Just be prepared for a man in a hi-vis jacket to disagree with you.

Last pair recovery act is not enough to save Burscough

BURSCOUGH were well beaten at Fleetwood Hesketh after a disastrous start to their innings.

Their decision to bat first looked doomed from the start as they slumped to 34-9.

The last pair of Josh Murray 31 and Craig McAnaney 13* added 55 for the final wicket as they were finally dismissed for 89, with Paul Mullen swinging his way to 5-9 and Gavin Dickenson taking 3-24.

In reply, the hosts slipped to 14-3 and 40-4, before order was restored by skipper Scott Rimmer 21* and his brother Lee Rimmer 41* who took Fleetwood to victory on 91-4.

Elsewhere in the Liverpool Competition First Division, Southport & Birkdale made light work of defeating Liverpool at Trafalgar Road, the visitors won the toss, elected to bat and collapsed from 50-0 to 100 with opener Sam Holliday scoring almost half of them with 42, whilst skipper Chris Firth spun his way to 4-44.

Last pair add 55 after disastrous start to innings saw them slump to 34-9

In reply, Bradley Yates took his seasons run tally past 300 with an unbeaten 77* and Isaac Lea also carried his bat with 19 not out as S&B raced to 103-0 to wrap up victory and close the gap on the leaders to five points with a game in hand.

Ainsdale held on for a home draw against the leaders Orrell Red Triangle, the visitors were asked to bat and duly racked up 234-2 dec, thanks to runs from Richard Everett 89*, Minhaj Bhada 59, Chris Riley 44* and skipper Andy Mottram with 34.

In reply, Mark Lucas top scored with 46 as the hosts hung on for the draw on 114-7, with Joe Lowe's unbeaten 5* off 65 deliveries seeing them through to the close.

Ormskirk fall short against Northern

ORMSKIRK suffered a 40 run home defeat to Northern on Saturday who remain in second place in the Liverpool & District Cricket Competition Premier Division.

The visitors chose to bat and eventually declared after 57.2 overs on 180-7, with Justin Snow 48* and Hayden McCrae 45 top scoring.

In reply, John Armstrong 56, Ian Robinson 27 and Alex Rankin 25 all weighed in with useful runs for Ormksirk, before the rest were largely undone by the spin of Snow who took 2-11 off 9 overs and Tom Sephton who took his seasons tally to 25 with 4-54 off 18 as the hosts were bowled out for 140.

The top of the table remains the same after early season pacesetters Formby recorded a convincing ten wicket win at Lytham.

The hosts who elected to bat were dismissed for 122 with Taylor Cornall top scoring with 30, whilst the rest struggled to cope with the accurate bowling of Lukman Vahaluwala 6-15 and Sabbir Patel 3-44.

In reply, Ireland's William Porterfield 72* and Lancashire's Hameed 48* looked untroubled as they eased the visitors to a maximum point victory on 123-0.

Bootle were beaten by 31 runs in a low scoring contest at Rainhill, the hosts decided to bat first with Akshay Darekar 26 and Matthew Fletcher 24 top scoring in a below par total of 125, with Bharat Tripathi taking 7-47.

In reply, Danny Davies top scored with 29 as the visitors slumped to 94 all out, with Darekar 6-34 and David Atkinson 4-33 taking every wicket to fall.

Northern's Hayden McCrae who scored 45 against Ormskirk.

Batsmen break records for club's highest ever trophy total of 391

IT was a record breaking day at Brook Lane on Sunday when Ormskirk racked up a massive total of 391-4, their highest ever score in a 45 over game, to beat Ainsdale in the Ray Digman Trophy.

Ian Robinson and Jonny Glayzer took apart the Ainsdale bowling in a remarkable club record fourth wicket partnership of 279 runs.

Glayzer was eventually dismissed for 124 runs off 82 balls including fifteen 4s and two 6s.

Robinson was still there at the end of the innings having made 177 runs off 119 balls to include seventeen 4s and five 6s, the highest ever recorded individual inings for the club.

Ainsdale were then bowled out for 190 with the wickets being shared by the bowlers and with Ian Robinson adding to his day's achievements by taking two wickets and netting a catch.

Jonny Glayzer.

Bohannon makes his debut for Lancashire in cup match

ORMSKIRK and former Skelmersdale player Josh Bohannon made his debut for Lancashire this week.

He was due to make his debut in Lancashire's Royal London one day match at Blackpool against Warickshire on Friday but the rain meant the match was abandoned before he could take to the field.

He eventually did make his debut appearance on Sunday for Lancashire at Worcester.

He scored 13 runs batting at number eight and then bowled six overs for 40 runs but could not prevent Worcestershire winning the match with a ball to spare.

Josh Bohannon.
